Investment Objective and Overview

The Fund invests primarily in euro-denominated debt of investment grade sovereign and corporate issuers, with the flexibility to invest up to 30% of the Fund's assets in other fixed income asset classes. This broad and highly-liquid investment universe provides the Fund Managers with the flexibility to actively position the portfolio according to their analysis of the economic cycle, and to implement their convictions regarding the issuers and issues that should create the most attractive risk/return profile. Over a full market cycle, we aim to outperform the Bloomberg Euro-Aggregate 1-10 Year (Total Return) benchmark. Our methodology makes use of:

- In-depth top-down analysis of the markets in which we invest, for a fuller understanding of interest rates, credit markets and currencies
- Rigorous bottom-up analysis, integrating ESG factors, to understand issuer-specific risks and opportunities
- Disciplined portfolio construction and risk budgeting to achieve optimal diversification of sources of risk and return, including a strict sell discipline

The investment universe now (first quarter 2025) offers higher yields and greater dispersion than in recent years. Our euro aggregate solution is designed to take advantage of changing conditions, through the following:

- Active management enables managers to potentially benefit both from today's environment of higher yields and from the increased dispersion.
- An expanded investment universe which is moderately broader than the euro aggregates benchmark allows the investment team to move flexibly among different segments. These segments can react in substantially different ways in different types of markets depending on rates, credit risk, inflation, and specific events.
- Active management of dynamic correlations and return dynamics that characterise the euro aggregate investment universe
- A large-capacity strategy that can leverage across Candriam's range of fixed income capabilities
- A demonstrable track record from an experienced investment team

A Core-Plus Investment Approach

It is our Conviction that disciplined active management can add risk-adjusted return. This holds true not only for individual securities, but also between different segments of the fixed income universe.

We intend to capture opportunities in the full set of fixed income assets across cycles. In addition to its core investment universe of developed market sovereign, SSA (sub-sovereign, supranational and agency), and corporate bonds issued in euros, the Fund has the flexibility to also make investments in high yield, inflation-linked, non-euro currencies, emerging markets and convertible bonds. We believe that by investing in these markets at the right time, when they are attractively valued, we can substantially enhance the Fund's risk-return profile. Our investment process is grounded on a solid combination of quantitative toolsets and qualitative analysis, which we use to formulate our investment views. We do not systematically allocate to these asset classes in an attempt to enhance returns purely by enhancing the risk.

An Intermediate-Duration Solution

An intermediate-duration portfolio can be ideal for investors who seek to both earn interest income, and incorporate bonds for their portfolio diversification benefits, with lower short-term drawdown risk than that of an all-maturity solution. Historically, short- to intermediate-duration bonds offer a balanced risk-return profile. This segment historically generates returns only slightly below those of longer-dated bonds, but with substantially reduced volatility. Conversely, a short-duration portfolio would not be able to capture opportunities to enhance yield with a steepening curve.

A Well-Resourced and Experienced Investment Team

The Fund management builds on more than 25 years of aggregate bond investment experience. Sylvain De Bus, Lead Fund Manager, has been involved in the management of the Fund since its repositioning to the current strategy in 2018. He and the co-managers are supported by the Global Bonds Team as well as the wider fixed income department with dedicated specialists in all fixed income asset classes in which the Fund invests: developed market sovereigns, investment grade and high yield credit, emerging market debt and convertible bonds.
